Surveillance technology, powered by AI, has been used mainly by law enforcement to fight crime (fighting crime and violence)	/0.5
It's useful to monitor the population, and was particularly developed during the pandemic to track people and enforce health restrictions (health + role of the pandemic)	/0.5
(efficiency) While some argue that this is particularly efficient, others reveal that the technology is not particularly efficient and that the risks it poses are so serious that it should be either banned or more regulated.	/0.5
It poses a threat to many private liberties and infringes on many rights because the state will be able to monitor anywhere, at any time, its population, and will receive personal data (surveillance state) – pervasiveness of a technology which has become extremely performant	/0.5
The first issue is that of privacy and the use of personal data	/1
Being monitored all the time impacts free speech, causes stress and means that participation in political contest will be reduced (it's more power for the state) – this is the consequence of a surveillance state.	/1
It will perpetuate racism	/0.5
(legal aspect) What's more, the technology is already being used even though there is no legal framework and therefore no real legal protection.	/0.5
