

Introductions :

Progress in science allows us to live in a modernized world where comfort reigns. Among these scientific innovations, there are AIs such as Chat GPT. This is the subject of this excerpt from The Washington Post published in December 2022. The text raises the question of whether the use of AI for essay-writing can lead to intellectual loss [OR : The journalist shows the different benefits of writing essays by hand.]

Wrap-up / Bilan (fin du compte-rendu)

In short, this article shows that the advent of ChatGPT could be the catalyst¹ of the return to handwritten essays, which could prevent a decrease in the level of students.

Thesis sentence / Problématique du commentaire :

Is it possible to reduce the impact of AI in today's world or is it too late?

How can school still be useful and efficient as AI programs evolve?

Is it because a bot does things better than a human that the latter has to let it do it?

¹ an agent that provokes or speeds significant change or action