

Mines-Ponts Q1

Ebauche de réponse (à étoffer)

The extinction of humanity will happen due to robots. Robots are becoming better and better and they have more skills and especially, leading skills. And the robots know, it because they say they will not be going to use their skills. More generally, robots say that they will not turn against humanity but that means they will, exactly like they do in movies.

Début de réponse

The future of humans is extinction. Indeed, Artificial Intelligences have better leading skills, they just know it and they claim they will not use these skills. Similarly/ worse, they say they will not turn against humans.
